

Reasonable A Blind Leap of Faith

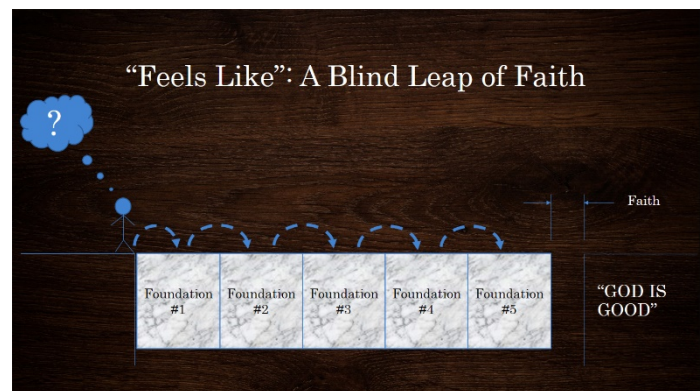

WHEN GOD DOESN'T SEEM GOOD...

Where we are going in this study...

Sometimes we all face trials / difficulties in life that can make it seem like a “blind leap of faith” to believe that God is still good...

Our hope in this study is to lay some foundation stones to help bridge the gap from where we are, to believing once again that “God is good”...note that, in the end, it will still require faith...

However, while it will still require faith in the end, our hope is that once we lay some of these scriptural foundation stones, it will seem less like a “blind leap” and more like a very reasonable step of faith to believe that God is still good!
